Important Notice:

Appointments will be scheduled during the school day for proposals and for presentations. Attendance at these two scheduled appointments is a mandatory requirement in the program.

Failure to attend the orientation session or the scheduled appointments will result in the IR credit being denied for that semester.

These deadlines have been established not only to help you pace yourself, but also to ensure that faculty and staff have sufficient time to manage paperwork and grades. In order to receive credit through Independent Research, you must comply with these deadlines.
